CHIEF MINISTER

It gives me immense pleasure, as Chairman of the Organising Committee of the Bengaluru International Film Festival, to announce the commencement of the 10th edition of Bengaluru International Film Festival, to be held from 22nd February to 1st March 2018.

The steady popularity of BIFFES over the years can be gauged by the hundreds of entries it is attracting from various parts of the world with diverse themes from all the walks of life. The Government of Karnataka is extending all the possible support and help to make the event a huge success and the role played by Karnataka Chalanachitra Academy in this regard is no less significant. The onus on the Government of Karnataka is to promote and spread healthy culture and BIFFES is an ideal platform through which it can be achieved to a greater extent.

The Government is dedicated to enhance the physical and intellectual infrastructure of this Festival so that it may address the year round interest it receives from film makers all over the world and the public.

I take this opportunity to welcome one and all to BIFFES and am sure that the Bengaluru Film Enthusiasts would be treated to high quality cinema from across the globe, and their whole hearted participation would make this event a grand success.

SIDDARAMAIAH

Hon'ble Chief Minister
Government of Karnataka

SECRETARY

The 10th edition of the Bengaluru International Film Festival is all set to be launched on the 22nd of February 2018 and will be celebrated for a week till 1st of March 2018. I extend my heartiest greetings to all those film enthusiasts who have descended on Bengaluru to be part of this Film Festival.

Over the years, the Festival has attained so much popularity amongst the public and film professionals, that it has become an integral part of their lifestyle. The visibility of the festival across the global film fraternity is evident from the sheer number of entries the festival has received this year. There is a huge demand for participation from both the public and film makers from all over the world.

BIFFES has made significant changes to provide an improved experience to the audience, and this has resulted in more and more film enthusiasts and film professionals taking part in the festival. There has been constant efforts in making changes to provide the best selection of Kannada, regional, national and world cinema to the public which has helped the festival's steady rise in the global film festival circuit.

The Karnataka Government has provided many incentives to Karnataka Film Industry and BIFFES is another incentive. Moreover, the establishment of Kannada Chalanachitra Academy by the Government of Karnataka is a huge impetus to BIFFES.

Wishing all the success to this prestigious 10th edition of BIFFES.

PANKAJ KUMAR PANDEY, IAS
Secretary, Department of Information and Public Relations
Govt. of Karnataka

CHAIRMAN

It's a great pleasure and honour to welcome the very best in Kannada and world cinema to the 10th edition of the Bengaluru International Film Festival to be held from 22nd February to 1st March 2018.

First of all I would like to take this opportunity to express my sincere thanks to our Honourable Chief Minister Siddaramaiah, who has been a pillar of support to our festival by accepting all our requests. His generosity towards the film industry has helped Kannada cinema to flourish, through film subsidies and tax exemptions, amongst other benefits. BIFFES allows access to the world that might be otherwise out of bounds, by presenting diverse landscapes across the globe. Bengaluru is a cosmopolitan city and is known for its plurality of culture. It can assimilate global cultures and still retain its own identity. Despite stiff competition from various language cinemas Kannada cinema has held its status both in terms of number of films made locally and also its representation in national cinema. At this festival a bouquet of selected Art House cinema, mainstream films and culturally significant works have been lined up for screening.

BIFFES has opened up a new world for our new generation of film makers to look at the possibilities of film expression and that was the main objective for the establishment of Kannada Chalanachitra Academy. In the years to come the academy will hope to take this forum outside Bengaluru and create a conducive environment in the state to boost the quality of Kannada cinema to international arena enabling the rich tradition of Kannada to extend beyond the borders of the state.

On behalf of Karnataka Chalanachitra Academy, I extend a warm welcome to all the participants of the festival and wish them a great, joyful and enriching experience at BIFFES.

S V RAJENDRA SINGH BABU

Chairman, Karnataka Chalanachitra Academy
Festival Director

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

We are extremely happy and proud to present the 10th Bengaluru International Film Festival to be held from 22nd February to 1st March 2018. BIFFES has established itself as an important fixture on the international film festival scene due to high standards in programming, organisational upgrades and the enthusiastic participation of audiences. The huge demand for delegate registration and the long queues at the screening halls in the last edition to view the best of the films have determined us to extend the scope of the festival and also enlarge the infrastructure.

We will be screening more than 200 films under 16 categories from more than 50 countries this year. This time we have as many as 12 screens at PVR and Dr. Raj Bhavan, Karnataka Film Artistes Association, Chamara-jpet.

The range of topics that are to be taken up for debate in this edition is a clear indicator to the growing maturity of the festival. We are constantly endeavouring to rise to the expectations of both the film makers and the enlightened audiences.

Our endeavour is to ensure that the festival climbs to greater heights and to this effect we have undertaken significant measures to provide festival delegates with the best possible film viewing experience.

On this special occasion, I welcome all the Delegates, Juries, Guests and special invitees and wish them a pleasant and meaningful week at BIFFES.

DR. P S HARSHA, IPS

Comissioner, Department of Information and Public Relations,
Govt. of Karnataka
Festival Executive Director

ARTISTIC DIRECTOR

The process of selection of films for the festivals is not only becoming more and more challenging with the increasing quality of the projects, but also highly demanding in terms of Social content. Added to their strong sociological core, Independent Cinema is donning the activist role as an ethical alternate to the sullied image of the current political discourses. They are also evolving rapidly in terms of technological innovation and also as to how films can look better for less money. The significant aspect of these alternative voices and points of view, is their aggressive claim on the festival platforms to disseminate their thought processes beyond the local or National boundaries.

Cinema by nature is Global in its reach but in its detail it is predominantly rooted in a local milieu. Its potential to place the 'Immediate Present' into the creative intellectual discourse and to explore the contemporary themes go far beyond the possibilities in other Art forms and far deeper than in Newsreels and journalistic reportage. The films like "Insyriated", "Insult" from Lebanon, "Excavator" from Korea, "Loveless" from Russia, "Father and Son" from Vietnam, "A sort of a Family" from Argentina, "Directions" from Bulgaria, "The Other side of Hope" from Finland on show in this edition of BIFFes are only a few examples to view and understand the human dilemmas of our times across the globe under one platform.

It is widely proclaimed that Human rights are rights inherent to all human beings and also that it is inalienable. But the principle is more often breached than practiced even in democratic set ups. So is the concept of Social Justice. Though it is generally thought of as a world which affords individuals and groups fair treatment and an impartial share of the benefits of society inequality persists in all types of political formations. BIFFes takes a critical look at these concepts through a bouquet of documentaries and features. This is the thematic value addition to this edition. The kaleidoscope of Cinema of the World, Competition sections, Country Foci, Director's retrospectives and all other programs of earlier era will continue.

We are proud to record that BIFFes has completed a decade of its fruitful existence. We welcome all of you to share our happiness and satisfaction. The film loving public of Bengaluru, the founding organization Suchitra Film Society and all its erstwhile committee members, the Chairpersons of Karnataka Chalanachitra Academy Mr. Nagabharana, Ms. Tara and Mr. Rajendrasingh Babu, Previous Artistic Directors Mr. Girish Kasaravalli and Mr. Narahari Rao, the officials of the Department of Information and Public Relations, Karnataka Government and the young boys and girls who have volunteered all through the years to sustain this event for so long deserve special mention on this occasion.

Welcome to this grand celebration of the moving images.

LORA LEGALE

DIRECTOR - SALVATORE FICARRA & VALENTINO PICONE

ITALY / 2017 / ITALIAN / 92 MIN.

SYNOPSIS

In the small town, the moment has arrived to elect a new Mayor, where for years it was under the corrupt leadership. Now an unlikely opponent comes in the form of the mild mannered old professor. With no political background, the professor simply wants to give his daughter an alternative to vote for. Against all odds he wins, and starts a new age of legality and respect for the rules in town. But the citizens of the town have become so used to living amid corruption and inefficiency. Are they going to cope with this new age of honest leadership?

DIRECTOR - ARNAB K MIDDYA
INDIA / 2017 / BENGALI / 86 MIN.

SYNOPSIS

This is a saga of womanhood in the correlative context of human relationships and complex society. Andarkahini is stitched with four stories of different diversities with the core crisis of womanhood. In the film, four women protagonists are from four different stories where one character is connected to the other three. It symbolizes the very aspect of womanhood as a metaphor. With stories and different characters, the film travels through various contours of our society to open up the dark hidden aspects of various relationships and its complexities.

SYNOPSIS

This film is a story of 'Deshmukhs' who belong to Pune. Their only son Alok, has been in a relationship with Indu since the last 4 years. This is a story about how parents in today's times respect and understand their children's relationships. Alok, though reluctantly, opens up about his relationship with Indu. He shares the ups and downs in his life to his parents and over the course realizes that like his friends, his parents too are capable of still understanding him. This light-hearted film makes both the generations realize the differences in dealing with relationships and makes them appreciate the difference.

DIRECTOR - NIKHIL MANJOO
INDIA / 2017 / KANNADA / 90 MIN.

SYNOPSIS

The film is about the abuse of caste reservation policy across India, but particularly in a Tehsil of Karnataka, the Constitution of India provides privilege for such people who are neglected due to the caste discrimination and untouchability practices in the past. Several high caste and superior families and households in India misused this after making fake documents and forgery. The film looks into the matter of abuse of Reservation Policy.

SYNOPSIS

The film centres on a young lawyer working for a firm that takes on refugee cases. Though he looks German and speaks the language fluently, Michael is himself an immigrant, who assimilated over the years. As he reflects on whether he wants to take on the refugee-status case of a Black poet, Michael's long-lost father whom he has never seen was dead arrives on his doorstep. Over the course of a weekend, the two make awkward attempts to establish some form of connection. Memories and false starts conflict with his father's need to communicate something essential to his son.

DIRECTOR - JHONNY HENDRIX HINESTROZA
COLOMBIA / 2017 / SPANISH / 100 MIN.

SYNOPSIS

Right when the embargo is at its peak and the Soviet Union disintegrates. Life of CANDELARIA and VÍCTOR continues at a slow pace. But the monotony is broken when Candelaria finds a video camera hidden in the dirty sheets of the hotel where she works. Not sure of what to do with it just yet, she brings it home as the couple learns to manipulate it and later to use it to film themselves dancing, kissing and making love. This spark of recovered love helps them forget that one of them is sick. But one day the camera disappears.

DIRECTOR - LAURA MORA ORTEGA

COLOMBIA / 2017 / SPANISH / 100 MIN.

SYNOPSIS

Paula is a carefree art student who balances her days between studying photography and organizing against Colombia's deeply corrupt legal system. But when she witnesses her Father's assassination in broad daylight, Paula is thrown into a state of shock. Lost in a daze of sadness and rage, she catches a glimpse of her father's killer, brooding Jesús, in a nearby club, setting the young student on a path of revenge. Intent on exacting any form of justice she can and finds herself immersed in Jesús's aimless, poverty-stricken world and quickly discovers that they might both be victims of the same broken system.

SYNOPSIS

After an affair with a married man, actress Younghee decides to take some time out and travels to the far-off, foreign city of Hamburg. There she meets some old friends, they eat and drink together, their conversations get more and more out of hand and her influence to alcohol insults and angers the others, giving vent to minor and major realisations and truths. She asks herself if her lover will follow her and whether he misses her as much as she does. She withdraws to a deserted beach. It seems as if she can only truly find herself in nature.

DIRECTOR - ROUZIE HASSANOVA
BULGARIA / 2017 / BULGARIAN / 85 MIN.

SYNOPSIS

For a young rock'n'roll fan, Bulgaria in 1971 was a distinctly un-swinging place to be. An oppressive Communist government blamed it firmly on the boogie and for a young hip cat like Ahmet, life is grey and dull. So, when his father walks almost 100km to the nearest town, to buy him a new radio, it's a truly heartwarming gesture. The film portrays the difficult lives of Muslims in Bulgaria, eking out a living in the rough, wild countryside, and also the family's local Party officials are pressuring them to convert to Christianity. Some part of the film is director's own childhood in Bulgaria.

SYNOPSIS

Ana is a happy teenager along with her best friend, Isa, they live through times of love and rebellion. But when she meets Lito, everything changes. Pressure to break up with him and fear of giving up her virginity put her in a world of doubts that lead her to seek refuge in the mysterious Camilo. Her heart is trapped between two passions, while the military dictatorship casts the shadows of death, solitude and terror over her world. Just 15 years old, Ana must fight to save her life without giving up what she most loves.

THE THIRD MURDER

SANDOME NO SATSUJIN

ದ ಥರ್ಡ್ ಮರ್ಡರ್

DIRECTOR - HIROKAZU KORE-EDA
JAPAN / 2017 / JAPANESE / 124 MIN.

SYNOPSIS

A top lawyer Shigemori, is asked to join in the defense of Misumi, who has already spent 30 years in prison for a previous double murder. Misumi is now back in jail, having willingly admitted that he robbed, killed and burned the body of his former employer. It seems to be an open-and-shut case. But once Shigemori starts digging, interviewing his client and the victim's family, the evidence is no longer obvious and the cynical attorney, who is much more interested in winning the case than unveiling the truth, begins to doubt that Misumi is indeed the guilty party.

TWO IRENES

AS DUAS IRENES

ಟು ಐರಿನ್ಸ್

DIRECTOR - FABIO MEIRA

BRAZIL / 2017 / PORTUGUESE / 89 MIN.

SYNOPSIS

Irene discovers that there is another 13-year-old Irene living in the same town. Curiously, she observes the confident, cheerful girl who lives alone with her mother. This other Irene seems free. Soon the two girls, apparently so different from each other, are spending every day together, meeting up with boys in the cinema or going to the lake. When they start talking about their fathers, they notice that they have more in common than they had thought. An exquisite mosaic that weaves a wonderfully delicate web of identity questions, true friendship and the first steps towards adulthood.

ZAGROS

ಝಾಗ್ರೋಸ್

DIRECTOR - SAHIM OMAR KALIFA
BELGIUM / 2017 / KURDISH | DUTCH / 95 MIN.

SYNOPSIS

Zagros is a young shepherd, living with his pregnant wife Havin, and nine-year-old daughter. One day, Zagros' father accuses Havin that the child she is expecting isn't Zagros's. Scared for her life, Havin flees with their daughter. Zagros dismisses the accusations and joins them, convinced of a bright future and of his wife's innocence. Zagros' father continues to plant toxic seeds of doubt that become increasingly hard for Zagros to shake. The story develops into a compelling drama of one man's struggle between his loyalty to traditional family values and the embracing of a modern lifestyle.

OBLIVION VERSES

LOS VERSOS DEL OLVIDO

ಓಬ್ಲಿವಿಯನ್ ವರ್ಸಸ್

DIRECTOR - ALIREZA KHATAMI

CHILE / 2017 / SPANISH / 92 MIN.

SYNOPSIS

Within the walls of a sprawling cemetery where time stands still, an undertaker in his seventies lives a quiet existence. With an incredibly detailed memory and a body that bears scars, counting down his last days at the graveyard. His daily routine goes by uninterrupted until the outside world sends in news of a mysterious happening: a pod of whales beached on the nearby coast while violent clashes erupt in the city leaves behind the unidentified body of a young woman at morgue. Determined to offer the woman a proper burial, he sets off on a Kafkaesque journey of redemption.

THE NOTHING FACTORY

A FABRICA DE NADA

ದ ನಥಿಂಗ್ ಫ್ಯಾಕ್ಟರಿ

DIRECTOR - PEDRO PINHO

PORTUGAL / 2017 / PORTUGUESE / 177 MIN.

SYNOPSIS

When management begins to sell off some of the equipment at a factory that makes elevator parts, the workers become nervous about their job security. Their fears are solidified when they are offered lump-sum payments rather than proper severance pay. As they weigh their options, including a strike and a tongue-in-cheek suggestion at an armed response, the workers are forced to continue showing up at work even though they lack the machinery to carry out their duties. They try to figure out ways to combat the monotony. At one point, they even break into a song-and-dance routine.

GERMANY

German Cinema has witnessed singularly chequered history since early dawn of cinema world over. From early expressionist cinemas of 1920s to Nazi 30s and 40s, to East and West divides of post 45s, to Occupation & Reconstruction explorations of 60s, New German cinema and popular narratives of 80s and modern cinema of 90s and thereafter, German Cinema has held its own and has unique influences on the world cinema marquee.

Capturing the quintessential quality of German Cinema of today, especially contemporary films, BIFFES 2018 has curated a mixed mélange of eclectic, thought provoking and popular cinemas. These cinematic explorations, have not only won accolades at variety of film festival circuits, but also provide perspective window into essential cinemas emanating from Germany today with their crop of new talented and experimental directors.

As part of Country Focus Section, BIFFES presents six of German films from as disparate directors and thematic content to their individualistic and influential directorial styles. These vary from feel good family dramas to light hearted comedic films to social dramas, biopic and pure play art house fares, all of which speak of contemporary German cinema's true strengths and directions.

The films in our Country Focus Germany are 'Four Hands' (Die Viererhandige) by Oliver Kienle, 'The Final Journey' (Leanders Letzte Reise) by Nickj Baker- Monteys, 'The Young Karl Max' (Le Jeune Karl Marx) and 'Directions' by Stephan Komandarev . We also have two documentaries which are as per this year's BIFFES theme – Human Rights.

GERMANY / 2007 / ENGLISH / 52 MIN.

SYNOPSIS

The Oscar-winning documentary by filmmaker Alex Gibney demonstrates how the US infringes human rights in the name of democracy and has overruled principles of international law. To date, during the "War on Terror", over 100 prisoners have been killed in US military prisons such as Bagram (Afghanistan), Abu Ghraib (Iraq) or Guantanamo Bay (Cuba). Taxi to the Dark Side takes an in-depth look at one of these cases.

SYNOPSIS

Stasi surveillance as a film experience: over a number of years, the GDR Ministry for State Security spied on photographer Harald Hauswald. About 30 "IMs" (unofficial employees) were put on his case. His photographs deviated far too much from the self-image that the GDR wanted to portray. Hauswald published his photos in the West, thus increasing the authorities' political mistrust. The filmmaker Marc Thümmel juxtaposes voiceover texts from the Hauswald Stasi files with Hauswald's often sceptical, sometimes ironic, but never denunciatory photographs.

COUNTRY FOCUS

THAILAND

Like any other nation of the world, cinema came to Thailand way back to the early days of filmmaking, when Francois-Henri Lavancy-Clarke recorded King Chulalongkorn's 1897 visit to Bern, Switzerland. The film was then brought to Bangkok, where it was exhibited.

While the 1930s, has been described as the Golden Age of the Thai film industry with the years after World War II seeing a resurgence of sorts, however, with competition from Hollywood saw Thai industry hit its nadir in the 1980s and 1990s.

However, thereafter, the Thailand saw its own "New Wave" cinemas, with directors as Nonzee Nimibutr, Pen-Ek Ratanaruang and Apichatpong Weerasethakul and action hero Tony Jaa being celebrated at film festivals across the world.

With new wave directors achieving commercial and artistic success, a new crop of filmmakers has since grown up outside the traditional and often restrictive Thai studio system to create experimental short films and features.

The indie movement began with Apichatpong Weerasethakul's 2002 feature Blissfully Yours which won the Un Certain Regard Prize at Cannes Film Festival. Other indie directors include Aditya Assarat (Wonderful Town), Anocha Suwichakornpong (Mundane History), Pimpaka Towira (One Night Husband), Thunska Pansittivorakul (Voodoo Girls), Sivaroj Kongsakul (Eternity), Wichanon Somumjarn (In April the Following Year, There Was a Fire) and Nawapol Thamrongrattanarit (36).

Over the years Thailand films has carved their own special niche both in the Asian/Asean cinema marquee besides garnering recognition in the global scene as well. BIFFES, as part of its Country Focus Section features Cinema of Thailand.

The complement of five Thailand films comprises of a two horror thrillers, two romantic comedies, and an experimental collection of five shorts by five different directors. These five films give viewers a full flavor of the Thailand cinema of today with new young debutant directors who are etching their names on the movie marquee making the right noises on the international festival circuits as well.

COUNTRY FOCUS

CANADA

The history of the Canadian film industry has been one of sporadic achievement accomplished in isolation against great odds. Canadian cinema has existed within an environment where access to capital for production, to the marketplace for distribution and to theatres for exhibition has been extremely difficult.

Although it is appropriate to speak of an American film industry dating back to 1903, with the introduction of narrative filmmaking like The Great Train Robbery and Uncle Tom's Cabin. The first public screening of a film in Canada took place on 28 June 1896, in Montréal. In July, Andrew and George Holland of Ottawa, who two years earlier had opened the world's first Kinetoscope parlour in New York City featuring Thomas Edison's invention, introduced Edison's Vitascope to the Canadian public in Ottawa's West End Park. Among the scenes shown was The Kiss, starring May Irwin. On 31 August the first screening in Toronto took place at Robinson's Musée on Yonge Street. The first screening in Vancouver was in December 1898.

The first Canadian films were produced in the fall of 1897, a year after the Montréal debut. They were made by James Freer, a Manitoba farmer, and depicted life on the Prairies.

The growth of Canadian nationalism around the first world war promoted a brief flurry in Canadian production and other aspects of the film industry. The first widely released Canadian newsreels appeared, and feature film production expanded, as did the Canadian-owned Allen Theatres chain and associated distribution companies.

Canada has given remarkable films to the world like - Warrendale (1961), Les Ordres (1974), Quest for Life (1981), J. A Martin Photography (1977), The Silent Partner (1978), Les Plouffe (1981), The Grey Fox (1981), Mon Oncle Antoine (1971) and many others.

DIRECTOR - RATNOTTAMA SENGUPTA

INDIA / 2017 / HINDI / 70 MIN.

SYNOPSIS

The film is an interview of late author, scriptwriter and National Award winning filmmaker Nabendu Ghosh. He speaks about his association with his film guru Bimal Roy in the interview with the latter's son Joy Bimal Roy. In his youth, the writer was moved beyond words on watching a Bengali film that was played in one of the local theatre in Rajshahi, which changed his life. Throughout this documentary, what perhaps strikes the viewers the most is the placid, unassuming charm of a man so immensely talented - a man who seemed more keen on talking about the people he had worked with than about himself.

DIRECTOR - MICHEL HAZANAVICIUS

FRANCE / 2017 / FRENCH | ITALIAN / 107 MIN.

SYNOPSIS

Jean-Luc Godard, the leading filmmaker of his generation in Paris, is shooting La Chinoise with the woman he loves, Anne Wiazemsky, 20 years his junior. They are happy, attractive, in love and they marry. But the film's reception unleashes a profound self-examination in Jean-Luc. The events of May '68 will amplify this process, and the crisis that shakes the filmmaker will transform him profoundly, from a star cineaste to a Maoist artist entirely outside the system, as misunderstood as he is incomprehensible.

UNSUNG INCREDIBLE INDIA

As an initiative to represent lesser known regional language films of India, the tenth edition of Bengaluru International Film Festival has continued for the second year to dedicate a special category 'Unsung Incredible India', to capture the essence of the lesser known Indian languages (Tulu, Konkani, Kodava, Pahari, Kurmali and Nepali) cinema have created.

Karma Takapa, a graduate from the Film and Television Institute of India, specializing in direction and screenplay writing has come up with the Nepalese thriller movie named - 'Ralang Road', which is set in the tiny Himalayan state of Sikkim, is an attempt to understand cultural immigration, and lifestyles in a complex social setup. The language 'Nepalese', is the official language and lingua franca of Nepal. This formerly independent language has official status in state of Sikkim.

For the much talked and critically acclaimed movie - 'Sound of Silence', directed by Bijukumar Damodaran is about a mute boy and his journey towards spirituality. The language here is Pahari, which is spoken in Himachal Pradesh, some parts of Nepal and also Pakistan. This language is believed to be the official language of Buddhist Kashmiri monks.

Konkani is an Indo-Aryan language spoken along South-Western Coast of India. It is a minority language in Karnataka, Maharashtra and Kerala. A native of Goa, Miransha Naik completed his filmmaking studies at Whistling Woods International, Mumbai, specializing in screenwriting has recently directed a film, 'Juze' which is his first directorial.

Tulu film industry, also called as Coastalwood, is a 45-years-old industry and produces fifteen to twenty films annually. 'Pattanaaje' - is a directorial debut movie of a renowned Kannada/ Tulu stage artist Vijaykumar Sheenappa Shetty. The movie beautifully portrays the life of a Yakshagana, an art form from coastal Karnataka.

Kodava language which is the spoken language of Kodagu district in the Western Ghat part of Southern Karnataka. 'Mooga', narrates the story of a young man who is an orphan with speech and hearing disabilities, who is exploited and punished for no faults directed by Harish Raj.

Kurmali, or Kudmali, is one of many dialect variants of Bengali which is spoken in Jharkhand, India. Kurmali is generally linked to the Kudumi Mahato community of Jharkhand, Odisha & West Bengal. 'Death Certificate' is a story of an illiterate woman from a village looking for her dead husband. Despite the globalisation, the director - Rajadithya Banerjee, questions the lack of humanity and sympathy through this film.

This attempt of showcase provides an 'Expansive Understanding of Indian Cinema'. It also focuses on the lesser known languages of North East and Southern region of India and its culture.

SYNOPSIS

Set in a beautiful Himalayan valley, it's a journey of a neglected and abandoned mute boy, who loses his mother at birth and is furiously neglected by his father. When his father goes behind bars, the boy stares at a lonely and deserted life ahead. His relationship with an elderly Buddhist monk helps him to detach from his voiceless suffering and to explore the bond that each creation shares with nature. With nowhere to go, he joins a Buddhist monastery even as he fights an inner battle of unrequited love.

50TH YEAR OF THE MAKING OF

SAMSKARA

ಸಂಸ್ಕಾರ

DIRECTOR - PATTABHIRAMA REDDY TIKKAVARAPU

INDIA / 1970 / KANNADA / 113 MIN.

NOTE

Five decades ago, the summer of 1970, 13 May, to be precise, turned out to be one of the momentous day in the annals of Kannada Cinema history. On that day, akin to the time and day Satyajit Ray's Pather Panchali, gave a new meaning and idiom to Indian cinema, and the world took notice, similarly, a film, that lit up screens in the State, changed the direction and course of Kannada cinema.

That film was Samskara (Ritual). It turned to be a rite of passage for those that followed in later years providing a whole new syntax and dimension to the appreciation and understanding of the history of Kannada cinema.

Samskara, based on a story by eminent litterateur and Jnapith award winner, U R Ananthamurthy. It was brought on to screen by an enterprising and foresightful filmmaker and producer Pattabhi Ramareddy, turned out to be the pathbreaker.

The film, which heralded the nouvelle vogue or avant garde movement in Kannada cinema, became the pivot around which other peers followed suit. In fact, it was during that very time that there was a churning in Kannada literary scene as well, which had just given birth to a new realist literary tradition called Navya Movement, with which a team of young writers and inspired filmmakers identified themselves with.

Emboldened by the boldness of social themes that these literatures tackled exposing the social hierarchies with specific focus on women's issues, gender identity, equality and social justice, saw Pattabhi Ramareddy taking that decisive path with Samskara.

Following in its wake were Girish Karnad (who incidentally was one of the lead actors of Samskara and scripted the film), and B V Karanth with S L Byrappa's 'Vamshavriksha'. Soon you had several similar new wave films such as K Shankarappa's 'Maadi Madidavaru', B V Karanth's 'Chomana Dudi', P Lankesh's 'Pallavi', and Girish Karnad's 'Kaadu' providing the impetus and engine of engagement to the new genre.

As eminent film director and one of the vanguards of the movement, Girish Kasarvalli puts it Kannada films of 'Navya movement' were a celebration of cinema that sought to be different from the otherwise glorified popular Hindi, Tamil and Telugu cinemas.

These were part of Kannada literature - poetry, prose, drama and not an offshoot of any parallel cinema movement from Italy, France, Germany or even Bengal. Kannada films were more realistic and socially relevant and even today, have fresh, austere image as they were not influenced from any other form of cinema, notes Kasarvalli.

The Madras Players, an amateur theatre group, whose members included Girish Karnad, Socialist Party's Snehalata Reddy, who played the female lead, and her husband Pattabhi Rama Reddy, who directed and produced the film, was instrumental in the making of Samskara. The film, according to eminent Malayalam auteur Adoor Gopalakrishnan, was one of the ten finest films, alongside Satyajit Ray and others, that left their mark on Indian cinema in the last 50 years of 20th Century.

Samskara, which went on to win a clutch of awards including National Film Award for the Best Feature Film, also won international acclaim and recognition winning the Bronze Leopard at the Locarno International Film festival in 1972. That the film saw a pool of talents, both from the West and those trained in the West, come together to make the masterpiece. If director Pattabhi Rama Reddy was trained in Columbia, and hardly familiar with Kannada; writer-actor Girish Karnad was an Oxford-educated writer; while the cameraman was Australian, Tom Cowan; and the editor Englishman Stevan Cartaw, while U R Ananthamurthy, was Professor of English literature then; and music director Rajiv Taranath, too Professor in English schooled by the legendary Sarod maestro Ali Akbar Khan with artiste S G Vasudev was art director.

That Samskara's release saw stiff opposition was only to be expected, especially from the traditional Madhwa community, besides, ofcourse, the censors, but the then Union Information & Broadcasting Minister I K Gujral and Prime Minister Indira Gandhi, ensured the film would face no hitch in its release and subject acclaim to fame and etching for itself a name in the annals of Kannada and Indian cinema.

Samskara made on a modest of a lakh, and shot in the same year as Mrinal Sen's Bhuvan Shome, was initially banned for its anti-Brahminism. Cleared by a certification committee Samskara, not only went on to win critical acclaims, but also turned out a commercial success too, thanks to its torrid love scene that brought real human bodies into contact. Biffes takes pride in presenting the 113 minutes monumental film to mark its 50 years of making. Set in a Brahmin colony in the small village of Durvasapura in Western Ghats of Karnataka, where the majority belong to Madhwas with traditional mindset and strictly follow rules defined by their religion.

It spotlights on Praneshacharya a devout Brahmin who having completed his Vedic education at Varanasi has returned to Duravasapura and considered as leader of the Brahmin community of his village and surrounding ones. His main goal is to attain liberation (moksha) and he is willing to go to any length to achieve it. To remain focused on his goal and as an act of self-sacrifice, he marries an invalid woman and hence remains celibate.

Narayanappa, though Brahmin by birth, does not play by the set rules of Brahminism, and is given to eating meat and keeping company of prostitute Chandri. When Narayanappa and his friends snare the sacred fish in the temple tank, cook, and consume them, Brahmins in the villages rise up against him. They approach Praneshacharya to throw him out of the village. Once Narayanappa visits Shimoga and returns to Duravasapura with high fever and dies leaving the Brahmins in a piquant situation because, according to Brahmin principles, a person who dies should be cremated as early as possible. None wants to cremate the body — they feel that by cremating Narayanappa's body, they will become polluted as he was against the Brahmin principles during his life. Further, a non-Brahmin too cannot cremate the body of a Brahmin. Praneshacharya, tasked with finding a solution, heads to the temple to pray and on way back home, encounters Chandri and finds himself at night lying on Chandri's lap. Chandri rushes home, finds that Narayanappa's body has started to rot, gets it cremated in secrecy, and leaves Durvasapura. Praneshacharya unable to reveal his immoral act leaves the village but the guilt never leaves him. Finally deciding to own up to his act, he returns to the village and the story ends there. It's left to the imagination of the viewer on whether Praneshacharya owns up or not.

The cast comprises : Girish Karnad as Praneshacharya, Snehalatha Reddy as Chandri, P Lankesh as Narayanappa, Bhargavi Narayan, among others.

MESSAGE FROM CURATOR

This year's edition of the Bengaluru International Film Festival will present 22 topical and provocative short fiction films and documentaries from seven countries in South Asia. All 22 films are being screened in Bengaluru for the first time. The selection not only depicts injustices, but also showcases courageous resilience in challenging times. We hope these films serve as inspiration for our audiences, for seasoned activists as well as those searching for a role in local or global movements.

We are paying tribute to two outspoken champions of justice who passed away prematurely last year—Gauri Lankesh, journalist, who was brutally murdered outside her home for her ongoing fight for freedom of speech and transparency, and Chalam Bannurkar, filmmaker and social activist, whose work has inspired many young documentary filmmakers.

Civil wars, political upheavals, growing religious fundamentalism, and natural disasters have all contributed to adversely affecting daily life across South Asia. Yet filmmakers from the region continue to produce remarkable work and my selection is a tribute to their incredible strength. They work under security threats and financial constraints, as well as social stigma, and their films offer an astonishing diversity in subject and treatment: from 'big budget' productions to the output of short workshops; from the observational to the humorous; from the poetic and elusive to the intensely political; films that have premiered in Cannes, Berlin, Locarno, Busan...

The five categories in this selection emerged quite organically, and in these we can recognise similarities across countries—whether in repressive regimes, family dynamics, social values, or the daily struggles of life in the region.

HUMAN RIGHTS AND SOCIAL JUSTICE

Like many people in this region, who move in waves of migration both within and outside their countries, for economic reasons or because of prolonged wars between governments and revolutionary armies, the meaning of BORDERS acquires particular resonance in these films from Bangladesh,

Nepal and Sri Lanka. The tragic-comic element in two of these films is significant since humour as a tool is often unexplored in films with a political message.

WHERE'S MY ROUTE

SUDATH ABEYSIRIWARDANA /
SRI LANKA / 2017 / 13:00

SYNOPSIS

An 18 year old boy is practicing to disguise himself as a journalist in an attempt to travel to Australia illegally by boat. His mother pleads with some fishermen to prevent her son from going away.

The fishermen come to the young man's house and threaten him. They burn and destroy his documents. A young man's dream is shattered. The film explores the issues related to growing up in post-war Sri Lanka. It deals with how the state, law and order as well as people – as individuals and as communities – can control and influence aspirations of the youth.

SPLIT ENDS

RAJAN KATHET / NEPAL / 2016 /

SYNOPSIS

An ordinary barbershop in Lisbon is transformed into a refuge for Nepali migrants where experiences are shared and advice is sought and given.

THE CONTAINER

ABU SHAHED EMON /
BANGLADESH / 2012 / 15 MIN.

SYNOPSIS

An immigrant worker decorates his home—a container—with the found trash of other people's lives. After he's evicted from his illegal abode he secretly returns, but it's no longer his shelter. The film is a resonant look at the life of an immigrant worker in Korea through the eyes of a Bangladeshi filmmaker.

SAVING DOLMA

KESANG TSETEN / NEPAL / 2010
/ 64 MIN.

SYNOPSIS

The film follows the thread of Dolma, sentenced to death for killing a Filipino domestic co-worker in Kuwait, and the responses this evokes in a women's advocacy group, society and officialdom, as well as the upheaval and fractures of the family. The film presents a rare glimpse of the women migrant's situation in a Gulf State.

LIVELIHOOD

HUMAN RIGHTS AND SOCIAL JUSTICE

This section features the stories of marginalized workers for whom daily existence is a struggle no matter where they come from—Bangladesh, Bhutan, India or Nepal—raising questions about industrial safety, patriarchy, land rights and the role of governments. CHILDREN OF MINI JAPAN (KUTTY JAPANNIL KUZHANDAIGAL)

CHALAM BENNURAKAR / INDIA / 1990 / 63 MIN.

SYNOPSIS

Sivakasi is a small town in Southern Tamilnadu. It is from here and the surrounding villages that 70% of the requirements of the match box industry and 90% of the fireworks industry are produced. The owners of these factories proudly refer to their town as "Mini Japan", a self employed town. This town also prints millions of garish calendars and election posters which are used all over India.

The film is an attempt to portray the complex socio-political reasons that contribute to such a large employment of children in this area. Weaving together the production process with various episodes of Villupadal, a traditional performance that celebrates the childhood of Krishna, the film is a powerful critique of post independent India's "tryst with destiny" - a nightmare called "progress" through rapid industrialisation.

Her life story has become the history of Karnataka's fight against right-wing communal forces.

CHALAM BENNURAKAR

Chalam Bennurakar directed Sakshi in 1998, a first-of-its-kind initiative showcase documentaries from all over the world and to create a platform for Independent Documentary Filmmakers in India. His documentary, All About My Famila, made him the voice of the transgender community. His other films include Kunde Habba - a unique festival of the tribal people in Kodagu, Naavu Yeravaru - on the Yerava community and a documentary on the earthquake disaster that struck Latur, Maharashtra in 1993. He also co-produced and worked on Bishaar Blues, on the fakirs of Calcutta, with Amitabh Chakraborty.

V K MURTHY MEMORIAL LECTURE

V K MURTHY (1923 -2013)

V K Murthy's singular contribution as a cinematographer is to bring into play a new aesthetic, as if it were, in the mainstream of Indian Cinema. While it is arguably easier to break fresh ground in the parallel Cinema, it is nothing less than a heroic act to do so in the mainstream which has firmly entrenched itself in pre-established notions. And yet V K dared like none other and succeeded in no small measure.

During the mid-40s and 50s of the twentieth century Film-Noir, as a style was much in vogue in the Cinema of Hollywood and naturally, it did have an influence on Indian Cinema. While many of his contemporaries who adopted the visual style of Film-Noir and were content to create some memorable images using low-key lighting, VK Chose to tread a new path altogether. He began to use light as a language by itself while essaying the trials and tribulations of the protagonists in films such as PYASA, KAGAZ KE PHOOL and SAHIB BIBI AUR GULAM. Silhouettes and Semi-silhouettes etched out and enveloped in a dark brooding frame articulated the angst of the character in an elegant and yet subliminal manner while the darkness that surrounded them was indicative of the turmoil deep down in their soul. VK's unparalleled artistry imbued these images with an everlasting glory.

Such was his contribution to Indian Cinema that the highest honour that the State would bestow in the field of Cinema – The DADA PHALKE award, was presented to him in 2008. Biffes proudly celebrates the genius of V K Murthy by commissioning The VK Murthy memorial lecture.

THOMAS MICHAEL COWAN

Thomas Michael Cowan, the Australian Cinematographer is an accomplished artist of the visual medium. The septuagenarian has essayed several note-worthy documentaries and feature films during the course of his long and illustrious career. He is equally at home in a wide range of motion picture formats.

Be it 16mm or 35mm or the IMAX frame, the tool has never deterred him. He has never allowed it (the tool) to overwhelm the artist in him. His foray into the world of images has not only taken him across the continents but also has landed several prestigious awards in his lap. In his own words, the quest for the 'Moment of Truth' has been his mission in life. The presence of Thomas Cowan at Biffes this year is significant in itself, for, the year 2018 marks the 50 th anniversary of SAMSKARA. As the cinematographer of the path-breaking kannada movie, Thomas Cowan was instrumental in imbuing the film with a rich flavor of Neo-Realism. Eventually, SAMSKARA became the harbinger of the New Wave Cinema in the region and sowed the seeds of a new Cinema-culture. Currently in its tenth edition, Biffes is deeply indebted to Thomas Crown for delivering the V K Murthy memorial lecture.
